

SOLAS e-bulletin 81

New look

As announced last week SOLAS launched its new website and also changed the e-bulletin design from this issue on. We hope you like our new look and will continue to follow our updates and announcements. The new website is now mobile-friendly so you can check for news on the go. Note also that the site is still under construction.

SOLAS Summer School applications

Applications for the next SOLAS Summer School are now accepted - deadline 1 February 2013. For further information and to submit your application visit the school website.

Latest newsletter issue 14

The latest SOLAS newsletter is now available. Download the printable pdf version and/or download the "on screen reader pdf version" which allows you to read the newsletter in an interactive format designed to make articles clear and easy to read on your computer.

New US national representative

We would like to welcome Bill Miller as the new SOLAS national representative for the US. Bill is currently situated in the department of Marine Sciences at the University of Georgia. As a national representative he is the contact point for gathering information on past and ongoing US SOLAS activities e.g. for the annual national report.
